HE JUMPED ON A TRAIN

And Was in Police Court Explaining Last Night.

ONLY MOVING THEIR STOCK

That Explains What the Police Thought Was a Violation of the Liquor Law. Burns Has Engaged a Salineville Lawyer and Will Fight the Accusation in Court.

Charles Spaight, a young man, was before the mayor last night, charged with jumping on trains. The information was made by Baggage-master Smith, who said that the offense was committed on May 7. Spaight said he was not guilty and the mayor gave him a trial, no lawyers being present. Agent Hill supported Smith in identifying the accused as the jumper, and he was found guilty. He paid the $5.00 assessed without a murmur, and was released.

Tim Burns who is accused of keeping his saloon open on Sunday, has engaged Attorney Black to defend his case before a jury on Thursday morning, and a lively hearing is anticipated. It is thought that the defense will have witnesses to show that the room in question is not a part of the saloon being above the bar, and having no connection with it. The other saloon case has been making work for the police, but they find that what they believed to be a violation of the liquor law was nothing more than a moving, the stock being transferred to Seventh street.

James Rasby has been released from jail, and is once more enjoying his liberty. He had no money, and the authorities finding that his crime was not so wonderfully wicked, let him go in preference to giving the city expense.

THE BEST.

The Last Concert of the May Festival One of Great Merit.

The last concert of the May festival was the best of the series, and the largest audience of the three greeted the splendid array of talent at the Grand last evening.

A magnificent chorus from "Tannhauser" opened the entertainment, the Choral union singing as they have not sung since the festival began. The inspiring strains of the great Wagner's finest production filled the auditorium, and falling upon the ears of the audience left a pleasant impression. Miss Alice Goodwin sang "Bobolink" in a way that brought continued applause from the audience, which she answered with "Go Forth and Find" in an equally meritorious manner. "Lily's Ride" was the next number, and Miss Lida Andrews, of Wellsville, recited the stirring incident as she never recited before. The young lady has perfect command of her elocutionary powers, and her training has been thorough. She was heartily encouraged and gracefully answered the call. Miss Blanche A. Bray followed in a vocal solo "Ask What Thou Wilt," and scored a complete success. She possesses a voice of surprising sweetness and sings with the confidence growing out of continued plaudits. Like those who had preceded her, the lady was compelled to sing again, but then gave way to Miss Clara Chapman, whose piano solo was among the most enjoyable events of the evening. Mr. Ed McIntosh only added to his laurels by singing "Evening Star" from Tannhauser. The strength of his magnificent voice combined with his rare richness was better shown, perhaps, than on any other occasion. The audience demanded another solo, and after loud applause the gentleman responded. The violin solo by Miss Lida Kountz came next, and was a triumphant exhibition of her talent. The sweet notes of "Annie Laurie," gracefully rendered, made up the encore. Miss Andrews again delighted her hearers with her recitations, and Miss Bray lost nothing by singing "Ever True" and responding to the encore that followed. Then came the end, and it was a fitting end for the festival. Mrs. J. C. Thompson and the union sang "The Earth is the Lords," one of the most beautiful of the compositions of Prof. W. L. Thompson. The solo gave Mrs. Thompson ample scope for her sweet voice, and she sang as few people have ever heard her sing before. Combined with the natural melody was that sweet fullness which never fails to excite sincere admiration.

The audience last evening was much larger than at the other concerts, and they showed their unqualified appreciation of every number of the excellent program. The festival has been successful from the start, and it is the earnest wish of the News Review that the Choral union will grow stronger, and next year appear with renewed vigor.

The success of the festival is largely due to the able efforts of Professor Gotschall, although he was ably assisted by leading members of the union. The professor was untiring in the work of training the chorus, and preparing them for the public. He deserves commendation and congratulation.

BLAMES AMERICANS.

A Steubenville View of the Crockery Situation.

The Steubenville Gazette, free silver and free trade in its belief, has this to say of the crockery situation.

"There is a great deal in the East Liverpool papers abusive of importers for taking the American market for pottery. But why abuse the importers, who are mostly foreigners who are not moved by American patriotic sentiment, instead of the true Americans who buy the foreign product even at higher prices than the American. We are sure if the American patriots—American protectionists—would refuse to buy the foreign stuff the importer would not flood the country with the product of pauper labor. For instance, the people of that strong protection city of Philadelphia absolutely refused to buy American wares of any sort, and protectionists like Wanamaker continually point with pride to importations and never say a word about the little American stock in their big stores. The importer in not the person to abuse; use the hard words to bring the American protectionist to realize that foreign goods would not compete with American if the American patriot would buy American goods."

CLOSE CALLS

Two Persons Almost Run Down by Street Cars.

Two elderly people narrowly escaped death or serious injury on the street car line this morning, and the hearts of two motormen thumped for an equal number of minutes with apprehension.

As Motorman Martin sent his car flying along Second street, an old man tried to cross the track. Seeing that he had not observed the car the motorman sounded the gong vigorously, and the noise coming to the pedestrian's ears he became bewildered and although almost over attempted to go back. The motorman had slackened the speed, but not expecting this move was still moving at a reasonable gait. The danger of the old man caused him to act with haste, and the car passed, missing him a very little as it went by.

The other escape occurred on Washington street a little later. The car was going up the hill, and the motorman was not doing better speed than usual. A woman attempted to cross directly in front, and had not the motorman had the car under perfect control she would have been hit; as it was she only escaped by a few inches.

THOSE KILLING FROSTS.

They Cost Columbiana County Many Thousands.

The official report of Ohio as given out by the department of agriculture shows the frosts cost the county thousands of dollars. Wheat and grass are somewhat injured, cherries and plums are dropping. Corn is killed and much replanting is being done. Young clover is all killed, and apples will be no more than half a crop. The leaves of many forest trees have turned black, and the nut crop for the year will be a failure.

Visitors to England.

Mrs. Thomas Cooper and daughters and Mrs. Salina Luther and daughter left on the morning train for New York, from where they sail tomorrow for England.

Major Adams, dipper at the Laughlin pottery, will leave with his wife on June 17, for a trip to England.

A MATTER OF BIG MONEY

Damages Are Asked by the Thousand.

LARGEST ON RECORD FILED

The Plaintiff is Jeremiah Bassart, of Salem, and the Defendants are a Number of People From That Place—The Amount is Over Half an Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Special to the News Review.

Lisbon, May 21.—The largest damage case in the history of the county was filed this morning, although a suspicion of its presence got out yesterday afternoon.

The suit was brought by Jeremiah Bassart against J. M. Walter, Sarah L. Nuboum, Walter & Ferris, Tarr & Tescher, Baker & Coy, Maryland Trust company, B. Snyder, Mineral Ridge Mfg. company to recover on three notes, one for $15,000, one for $16,000 another for $20,000. They are secured by mortgages on land in Salem township and $36,000 in bonds given to J. M. Walter by the company who expected to mine the coal from under the land in question. The plaintiff wants his money amounting to $54,105.01, the largest amount involved in a case in the county courts. The story with the suit is the story of a project that failed.

The Fourth Assignment.

Special to News Review.

Lisbon, May 21.—The fourth assignment given out today is as follows:

May 27.—E. A. Ward versus S. Lower; Salem Water company versus N. B. Garragues, auditor; G. W. Meredith versus E. A. Albright. Tuesday—Salem versus Jesse Ducks; E. Street versus Salem; Parr & Tescher versus J. D. Nubaus; Mary M. Conant versus B. M. Allison; J. E. Blyth; John C. Hatham versus John Eckert. Wednesday—Manival versus Zimmerman; C. N. Schmick versus Jacob Kirsch. Friday—Margaret Hoke versus J. Hoke.

The Penitentiary For Shears.

Special to News Review.

Lisbon, May 21.—John Shears, who was indicted by the grand jury for horse stealing and said not guilty when arraigned, decided to change his mind today and plead guilty to one count. He was given 18 months in the penitentiary, and will be taken when the next batch of prisoners go to Columbus.

JOHN WAS IN TOWN

The Escaped Prisoner Spent a Short Time at Home.

When John Allison got out of jail yesterday morning he went to the house where he has been living in the West End, and remained a short time. Later he wandered away, and hid himself from the view of the public. Some of his friends made the statement that he was too well known here to be prosperous, and he would spend the rest of his days in the country on a farm. The officers were following clues last night and today, but John seems to have too much of a start.

NEW CASES

Township Trustees are Being Asked For Help.

The township trustees are receiving applications for aid almost every day, and with wisdom learned by experience are investigating before they fill the demand for clothing and food. Yesterday afternoon the trustees received three applications for help, and finding that they were in need their wants were supplied. The trustees are exercising vigilance, and are not being imposed upon, although efforts in that way are constantly being made.

A Complicated Case.

The case of Sarah A. Hamill versus Thomas McGee was tried before a jury and Squire J. N. Rose at city hall yesterday afternoon and proved a complicated affair. McGee testified that Mrs. Hamill told him "he needn't mind about his board during the strike," and that he worked every day to pay for his keeping. The evidence of Mrs. Hamill and her son was almost entirely contradictory. While admitting that McGee tended bar and worked about the house and saloon, Mrs. Hamill said she thought any boarder should do that and still pay his board. This was the only bit of humor developed during the trial. The jury was composed of H. L. Simms, Lawrence Thomas, E. N.

Huntsman, F. S. Albright, John W. Wyman and C. A. Fowler.

The case was given to the jury at 3 o'clock, and it was an hour before they decided to report. They gave Mrs. Hamill $63.29 of her bill.

Two Blunders Corrected.

The statement made by a local paper last night that William Erlanger will be home from Germany in a week or two is corrected by Mr. Erlanger in this city who says the gentleman will not be home until July.

Another statement made in the same issue was a harrowing tale of how Thomas Worcester had come from Akron on Saturday with the news that a wall of the new pottery had fallen down. The truth is Mr. Worcester has been here working at Burford's for weeks, and the wall was torn down because it was defective.

James Wanted to Rest.

An individual who gave the name of James Sharp entered the mayor's office yesterday afternoon, and asked for a place where he could lay his weary head and rest. The mayor informed him that he was not the proprietor of a lodging house, and advised him to find a bed as soon as possible or he would give him one of the mahoganies across the hall. James acknowledged that he was drunk, and again begged indulgence for a nap, but Chief Gill scared him away by threatening arrest.

Elected Delegates.

At the meeting of the barbers last evening Messrs Schenkle, Berg and Good were elected delegates to Trades council, and will be present at the next meeting. The present plan of closing the shops at 8 o'clock was opposed by some members of the union, and a determined effort was made to have the hour changed to 9, but the friends of early closing were determined in their position, and the movement came to nothing. They would not hear to a compromise, and the hour for closing will be as in the past.

Along the River.

The river is falling and the packet Keystone State was delayed in getting down until this morning. The boat took on a good shipment of ware at the local wharf.

The Ben Hur passed down yesterday afternoon and the Bedford went down last night, taking several passengers and a small quantity of ware. The Lizzie Bay is due down tonight and the Bedford and Hudson up.

The towboat Twilight passed down last night with two flats of coal and the Tom Reese went up with empties.

Played Poker in a Car.

A prominent East End man discovered a party of well known young men playing cards in a box car on Sunday afternoon, and upon raiding the game found that poker was the amusement. A stiff game was being played, the amount on the board being something interesting. There was an awful scramble to get away, but the visitor knew the boys and lost no time in telling that a repetition of the offense meant arrest. Their future behavior will have much to do with their safety.

Lost in the Street.

A West End woman roused her neighbors last evening by loud lamentations, declaring over and over again that her child had been lost, and was run over and killed by a wagon. The woman was hysterical, and the neighbors hunted for the child, eventually finding it in the Diamond, where it was crying, surrounded by a crowd of youngsters. It was returned home, but quiet was not restored in that household for several hours.

A League Entertainment.

The Epworth league of the First Methodist Episcopal church will meet on Thursday evening for the purpose of installing the new officers, and hearing the reports of what the others did during the time they were in position. After the business meeting a musical and literary program will be carried out, and a general social meeting will follow. Wellsville has been invited to be present, and a good representation is expected.

Turned in the Reports.

Assessors Anderson and Ford were in Lisbon yesterday turning in the report of their work. They were heartily commended for their promptness. The books go into the hands of the board of equalization on Monday of next week.

After a Silk Waist.

A woman attempted to carry away a silk waist from a dry goods store in the city last night, but was detected by a clerk and made to confess that she had no money with which to pay for it.

A TRAGEDY RECALLED

When a Woman Visited the Mayor Today.

A MAN ONCE DIED FOR HER

Two Brothers Quarreled Over Her, and One Was Killed the Other Serving a Term in the Penitentiary For the Crime. She Wanted Her Husband and His Friend Arrested.

A woman with a pitiful plea called on Mayor Gilbert today, and decided that her only course was resort to the law.

She complained that a notorious woman was running her husband and taking him from the straight path he had always trod until he was influenced by her charms. There had been a big quarrel over his actions, but he clung to the other woman and his wife was almost frantic with grief. She could not decide in her own mind what course to adopt when a new factor appeared in the person of another woman, who said she had seen the man and the woman in question drinking in a saloon together. This was too much for the complainant, and she almost decided to have the warrant issued.

The woman is said to have a story and when she was young she was the belle of East Liverpool. She attracted the admiration of two brothers. At a dance in the West End about 25 years ago they became in a dispute over her, and one stabbed his brother to death. He was arrested and found guilty, but the jury could not find it in their hearts to hang him, and he went to the penitentiary. After serving a long term of years he was released, and came back to Columbiana county to live. After a time he moved to West Virginia, and now lives in Hancock county. She was greatly worried about her husband, but she finally decided to let the case go over for the present. The other woman wanted advice about her daughter, who, she informed the mayor, was a wayward girl. He gave her advice, which, if acted upon, will make matters interesting for the daughter.

Some Lodge News.

The Daughters of America are constantly growing, and will initiate several candidates at the meeting tonight.

The Junior Mechanics have been so charmed by music of a rented piano that they have purchased the instrument, and will keep it in the lodge room.

Workers among the Heptasophs are pushing the order, and several new names will be proposed at the next meeting.

Trip Doing Him Good.

Alvin H. Bulger writes from Norfolk, Virginia, that he is having an exceedingly enjoyable time, and that he is rapidly gaining in health. He purposes taking in the delights and pleasures to be found in Virginia for a short time and will then continue his jaunt throughout the east, taking in the sights of Boston and other prominent cities.

Left the Track.

When car No. 35 was bound for Wellsville this morning it left the track near Walker, and kindly jumped on the upper side of the road, running the front part of the car against the hill. Had it gone the other way it would have gone over the hill, and the story would not end so pleasantly. Passengers were transferred for an hour.

School Board Did Not Meet.

The only members of the school board who remembered the meeting last night was G. H. Owen and Mrs. Whitehead. Superintendent Sanor was also there, but as there was no quorum the little party went to their respective homes.

Redeemed a Bond.

Clerk Hanley went to the First National bank this morning, and took up the Norton street improvement bond, which fell due today. He paid over $217, receiving the bond in return. The interest amounted to $13.02.

Rolled the Diamond.

The West End Diamond was rolled, and put in condition for playing ball again, yesterday. The shows played havoc with the place, and it required some time to smooth down the injuries.

Gone to Canton.

More Odd Fellows left last night for Canton to attend the state meeting, and others went today. They are being treated royally in Canton, and anticipate a pleasant week.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, MAY 21.

For President, WILLIAM MCKINLEY, Of Ohio.

The result of the investigation will be made public in Wellsville tonight, and much speculation is heard on every hand. It is the sentiment of the people that, if guilty, the offenders should be punished; but, if innocent, they have lost nothing by the inquiry.

A NEW HOPE.

When the NEWS REVIEW bulletined the news of the unconstitutionality of the income tax yesterday afternoon a new hope sprang into the breasts of many who read the words—will this action so work upon the resources of the government as to compel an extra session of congress and the enactment of a new law for the collection of duties on imports? It may, and again it may not. If Grover Cleveland was not so steeped in his destructive reform policy as to be blind to the interests of the nation he would never have signed the Wilson-Gorman collection without a more liberal revision in which crockery was recognized as a living industry worthy of notice. But the president may be compelled to move before the year is over. The deficit is growing with every month, and this loss of $15,000,000 will seriously hamper his calculations. He must adopt some course that will bring money to the treasury, and if no other scheme can be devised he may sign a revised tariff, a compromise between the Republican house and his own narrow minded views. Should that line be followed crockery will not suffer. It has a friend in Congressman Taylor, who will battle in its interests, who will champion the cause of East Liverpool and put the blush upon the cheek of him who was expected to represent the district before him. If the president calls a special session, and there is a possibility that even he will be driven to that corner before the summer is over, an effort will be made to increase the income by raising the tariff. Then crockery will get its just deserts, and East Liverpool can again be happy.

OBSERVING THE SABBATH.

"The saloons cannot do business on Sunday. The law says it is wrong, and the law must be obeyed." The words were uttered by Chief Gill, and every good citizen will heartily endorse him for the manly, straightforward course he has adopted. He leaves no opening for the most suspicious to doubt his intention, and the saloonkeeper who fails to heed the warnings of the chief and the sentences of the mayor can blame no one but himself if he is caught dispensing liquor on Sunday and is called upon to pay the penalty. The saloon men have every advantage in the city, and are given ample time to conduct a legitimate business with profit. They do not close until 11 o'clock, counting the standard by which the factories and mercantile houses of the city do business, and are allowed to open at an hour in the morning which assures them the patronage of all the bibulous ones. These advantages should be enough to satisfy the most ambitious. These hours should be sufficient for every saloonist, as they are for the dry goods stores, the groceries, and the clothing establishments. No apology can be made for the man who knows the law, realizes that he will be punished should he break it, and yet deliberately throws himself open to a heavy fine because he will not observe the statute. The law is all right, and the authorities are on the winning side, legally and morally, when they not only demand its enforcement, but punish those who fail to walk in the straight and narrow way. Mayor Gilbert, Chief Gill and the officers are to be congratulated for the manner in which they compel obedience from the offenders.

BROWN ON THE STAND.

He Gives Testimony Against Mrs. Snell at Canton.

CANTON, O., May 21.—The Snell case was given a lease of life by Judge McCarthy's holding on the subject of a prima facie case. He allowed Brown, the would-be assassin, to testify. He told in a cold-blooded manner how he had attempted to kill Mackey by shooting him in the back of the head after directing his attention in another direction.

He told of the manner in which he performed the deed much as one would describe the killing of game. He shielded himself behind a story that Wiggins had fooled him into Ohio to move some horses, and then threatened to kill him if he left without disposing of Mackey, keeping three strangers to guard him all the time. In weaving up this story he got badly mixed and was badly tangled in cross-examination. He claims Wiggins hired him and represented that Mrs. Snell would pay him out of the insurance money. The other witnesses testified that Wiggins tried to hire them to do the job.

The prosecution introduced testimony to show that Mrs. Snell's hired man, young Rutter, who snickered, had acted as a go-between for Mrs. Snell and Wiggins after the latter went to Indiana. They expect to prove that Rutter carried communications between the pair, and the evidence given is the most direct yet given against Mrs. Snell.

NEGRO NEARLY LYNCHED.

He Is Almost Strung Up on the Street in Columbus.

COLUMBUS, May 21.—A lynching in the streets of Columbus was narrowly averted the other afternoon. A great crowd was called to the corner of Fifth and Capitol streets by the cries of a little girl, who said a colored man, who she pointed out, had seized her as she was passing and dragged her into a stable. She fought hard, and managed to escape from him.

He was seized, and a policeman sent for, but before the officer arrived the crowd became so indignant that threats and propositions of lynching were freely made. He was finally taken to the city prison, where he gave the name of William Williams. The little girl was Eva Ferguson, aged 10, the daughter of W. M. Ferguson, living at Main street and Washington avenue.

INNOCENT MAN BEATEN.

A Riot Between Lumber-Shovers on a Dock at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, May 21.—One hundred and twenty-five lumber shovers went to the Cleveland Sawmill and Lumber company's dock yesterday armed with clubs and stones to prevent the lumber steamer Letysburg from being unloaded by non-union men. Their leaders had failed to make terms with the captain of the vessel, who told them he had arranged to have the boat unloaded by another gang of men at less than scale prices.

The union men congregated at the dock prepared to drive off the non-unionists. Frank Wentz, an employee of the mill, was mistaken for a non-union man and was vigorously attacked and unmercifully clubbed. He was removed to a hospital in an unconscious condition. When the police arrived the mob had disappeared. Later the union men unloaded the boat at regular scale prices.

Street Car Conductor Crushed to Death.

HAMILTON, O., May 21.—Elmer Eckert, aged 34 years, met with a fatal accident while acting in the capacity of a street car conductor on the Lindenwald division. He was in the act of stepping from one car to another, when in some manner he slipped and fell between the cars in front of the Columbian Carriage works on Central avenue, and was horribly crushed, both legs were cut off. He was removed to Mercy hospital, but just before the hospital was reached he expired. He leaves a wife and two small children.

Odd Fellows' Celebration.

CANTON, O., May 21.—The three links, emblematic of Odd Fellowship, are everywhere in the city. The occasion is the fiftieth anniversary of Odd Fellowship in the state, and is being celebrated by a session of the grand lodge and the dedication of a magnificent temple. From 10,000 to 20,000 strangers are expected, and the programme arranged will keep the streets filled with brass bands and gaily uniformed marchers for the next three days.

Hayward to Hang June 21.

ST. PAUL, May 21.—Governor Clough has signed the death warrant for Harry Hayward convicted of inciting and planning the murder of Catherine Ging in Minneapolis. The governor sets the execution for June 21.

Gail Hamilton Worse.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Miss Dodge (Gail Hamilton) is decidedly worse, and it is thought she cannot live much longer.

CARLISLE ON SILVER.

The Secretary Makes a Speech at Covington, Ky.

SILVER MONOMETALLISM SURE

If Free Coinage at 16 to 1 Goes Into Effect—The Purchasing Power of the Workingman's Dollar Would Be Reduced—Never Favored Free Silver.

COVINGTON, Ky., May 21.—The secretary of the United States treasury, the Hon. John G. Carlisle, opened the discussion of the question of sound money here last night in a quaint structure called Central Garden. The rush to hear the speaker was tremendous. An attempt was made to reserve seats for ladies, but it was given up when the pressure for admission was felt. Secretary Carlisle spent the day with friends, and was also called upon by representatives of the press, who asked again and again his position with regard to the Kentucky senatorship. To all these his reply was that he was not a candidate now for that or any other office. The beginning of the address was delayed by a street demonstration of considerable magnitude.

Secretary Carlisle spent a little time in comparing the records of the Harrison and Cleveland administrations in the conduct of the treasury and then said: "Whether we shall continue to preserve our existing monetary system, under which all the dollars in use, whether they be gold, silver, or paper, possess equal purchasing power in the markets, or provide by law for the free and unlimited coinage of silver dollars containing 412 1/2 grains of standard silver, and make them the units and measures of value in the exchange of commodities and in the payment of debts, is by far the most important question that has been presented for the consideration of the American people during this generation; and that question now confronts us."

"The free coinage of silver and the substitution of a new unit and measure of value for the existing one in the business transactions of the country is not an ordinary experiment which can be safely tried today and abandoned tomorrow if found injurious, because the immediate consequences of such a step would be so far-reaching and so enduring that they would continue to be felt for years after the policy had been reversed. It is incumbent, therefore, upon those who insist upon the adoption of this revolutionary policy to show plainly and conclusively in advance not only that it would result in no injury, but that it would be positively beneficial, for if not positively beneficial the change would at least be wholly useless. This cannot be done by appeals to the excited passions and prejudices of the people, by attempts to array one class of our citizens or one section of our country against another, or by the use of extravagant statements unsupported by facts and reasons."

"The questions involved are too serious, the interests to be affected are too large, and the common sense of the people is too strong to justify or even excuse this course of treatment. The allegation, even if it were true, that a great crime was surreptitiously committed in 1873, or at any other time, does not prove, or even conduce to prove, that the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 would be beneficial to the country under the conditions now existing. But, gentlemen, it is not true that the act of Feb. 12, 1873, which made the gold dollar the unit of value and dropped the standard silver dollar from the currency, was passed by stealth, or that its purpose was to deprive the people of the use of any coin then in use or then in existence in this country."

Mr. Carlisle then said that the bill was pending for nearly three years. The plain truth is that this act of 1873, which has been the subject of so much misapprehension and denunciation, was simply a legal recognition of a monetary condition which had existed in fact in this country for about 35 years, or ever since a short time after the passage of the coinage act of 1834.

Said he: "Under the act of 1873 and the so-called Sherman act, and the act providing for the recoinage of the trade dollars, there have been coined at the mints of the United States and put into circulation during 17 years $397,652,873 in full legal tender standard silver, as against $8,030,000 coined during the whole previous existence of the government—a period of 89 years. In other words, there have been coined and put into circulation among the people, in coin itself or in certificates issued upon them, nearly 50 times as many full legal tender silver dollars as were produced at the mints of the United States from 1792 to 1878, and yet some gentlemen are writing books and making speeches to convince their fellow-citizens that silver is demonetized in this country."

Said he: "Those of us who oppose the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 are proposing no change in the measure or standard of value now existing, nor are we proposing to discontinue the use of silver as money. I have never been, and am not now, unfriendly to silver in the sense of desiring to see it excluded from the monetary system of the United States, or of any other country, but I know that it cannot be kept in circulation along with gold by means of any ratio the law of any one country may attempt to establish between the two metals, and that the only way to secure the use of both at the same time is to make one of them the standard of value and so limit the coinage of the other that the government which issues them and receives them for public dues may be able at all times to maintain their exchangeability, either directly or indirectly through the operation of its fiscal system. I am, therefore, in favor of the preservation of the existing standard of value with such use of full legal tender silver coins, and paper convertible into coin on demand, as can be maintained without impairing or endangering the credit of the government or diminishing the purchasing or debtpaying power of the money in the hands of the people. This is what I mean by the terms 'sound money,' and, in my opinion, it is what is meant by an overwhelming majority of the opponents of free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1."

The free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, he said, would be silver monometallism and gold would be ultimately driven out of the country. He then went on to show the baneful effect it would have on business—obligations met with a currency of half value and the bankruptcy that would follow from a currency contracted by the withdrawal of gold.

Even if the business of the country became adjusted to the new order of things, it would require a great deal more money to purchase a given amount of merchandise. Then he said: "Any policy which reduces the value of the workingman's dollar on the day it is earned or on the day it is expended, by diminishing its purchasing power in the markets, has precisely the same effect upon the holder as if the amount paid for his labor were reduced. If, therefore, the favorite argument of the advocates of free coinage—that the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 would double the prices of all products—is correct, the wages of the laboring man would purchase under that system only one-half what they purchase now. This would undoubtedly be the case unless wages should also be doubled, which, according to the uniform experience of the past, is a most improbable thing."

The secretary then denied that he had ever been in favor of the free coinage of silver as some of his opponents had stated. He said that a speech he made 17 years ago in congress had been garbled and certain sentences detached and misapplied by his enemies.

WELLSVILLE.

ROLLING IN THE ROCKS

Wellsville Saloonists Are Paying the Price.

SAMUEL COLLEDGE AFTER THEM

They Are Charged With Breaking the Liquor Laws—William Fisher Got It Yesterday and Pat Fitzpatrick Has a Charge Opposite His Name—The News of Wellsville.

Samuel Colledge and the Wellsville police are making it warm for the saloonists these days, and as they are convicted of the various charges against them, Mayor Sinclair knows his duty well enough to add on the price, permitting the town to reap some benefit from the violations of its statutes.

The only victim yesterday afternoon was William Fisher. He was charged with selling to a minor, and when he was called for trial there was enough evidence at hand to convict him. The mayor decided that his breach of the law was worth no less than $15 and the costs, and invited Fisher to pay the city $22.95. He happened to have the amount, and was released, a wiser and poorer man.

On Wednesday afternoon of this week Patrick Fitzsimmon, a saloonist whose name appeared prominently in the investigation last week and has become well known in the city because of the arrest of young Phillips, will answer to two charges according to the program as it is laid out. The most serious offense is that of selling liquor to minors, the affidavit stating that the law was broken no later than the first week in May. The other charge is for using abusive language to Samuel Colledge and being disorderly. Colledge, who makes the charge, is a painter who has been warming to his work during the past few days. He claims that the liquor was sold to his son, who is a minor, and already a number of saloon keepers have fallen before his onslaughts. It is said that other prosecutions may grow out of the cases, but no word of what they are can be obtained.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

High School Scholars Preparing for the Event.

Although commencement does not take place until Tuesday evening, the high school students are preparing for a big week.

On Saturday morning the final exercises of the high school will be held, a complete and entertaining program having been arranged for the event.
On Tuesday evening the seven bright young ladies and five sturdy young men will speak their pieces and be given their diplomas. The program for the evening will be embellished with many excellent features, and will be an event of which Wellsville can be justly proud. On Wednesday evening the meeting of the alumni takes place, when good cheer and fraternal greetings, together with the most enjoyable time of the year, form the leading entertainment for many Wellsville people. The festivities of the week will end on Friday evening, when the junior class, with Miss Jennie Stevenson as hostess, will entertain the newly graduated ones at the cosy home of her father, Mr.
Samuel Stevenson, on Main street.
The reputation of Miss Stevenson as an entertainer is so well known that a delightful evening is anticipated.

MORE CHARGES.

They May Be Filled at the Meeting Tonight.

A member of the investigation committee is responsible for the statement that additional charges will probably be filed against Chief Warren and Mayor Sinclair this evening.
The nature of them, he said, was sensational, something worse than has yet appeared, and if they are presented they will probably have some effect upon the report. Inquiries were made in a vain attempt to secure a copy of these charges, but they are kept very close by the member or members who have them.

Chief Warren has been the recipient of numerous anonymous letters during the past week, containing complaints against certain houses. They are charged with being places which come under the law, and investigation has been made, but without success. In every instance the people have been found to be living within the bounds of the law, and no charge was made against them. Chairman Everson also received an anonymous communication. The police and private persons have watched the houses, but without success.

Two Charges.

A well-known employee of the rolling mill is in trouble, and the police are withholding his name because he has not yet been arrested. The complainant is his wife, and the cause is found in a family quarrel.

Information has been made against an alleged speakeasy, and the police are investigating the place. Chief Warren and the other officers are keeping an eye on it for the sole purpose of obtaining sufficient evidence to convict when the arrests are made.

Personal.

Miss Eva Runyon, of Somerset, is a guest at the residence of John Myers.

Miss Lillie Barrow, of this place, is visiting in Pittsburgh.

Miss Leeson, who has been visiting here for several days, returned

A Mock Initiation.

held a mock initiation in their hall last evening, and entertained a large lowed, and the evening was delightfully spent.

afternoon charged with using abusive language to a woman. He was given

THE STUDY

—of the action of medicines, or vegetable compounds, upon the stomach, and tests in many hundreds of cases, long ago
convinced Doctor
R. V. Pierce, Chief
Physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., that all cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint could be cured permanently if the right treatment were given. In support of his belief that he had discovered an alterative extract which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," that would cure these diseases, he collected from all parts of the country the evidence of those who had used his medicine, and he has asked the public to investigate for themselves, as he would be glad to furnish the names and addresses of thousands of people who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.
All interested should send for a little medical treatise on Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhea, "Liver Complaint," Biliousness, Constipation and Piles, published by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and mailed on receipt of six cents in one-cent stamps. This book also contains the photographs and testimony of many persons who have suffered from diseases of the digestive organs.

INDIGESTION; SEVERE PAIN IN STOMACH.

THOMAS FLETCHER, of Clifton Station, Fairfax Co., Va., writes:

"I suffered the terrible tortures for ten years with what your
Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advertiser described as 'Gas-tralgia' (pain in stomach). I employed our home doctor—took 40
dozen bottles of sarsaparilla with no benefit, then I took one half dozen bottles of a celery compound without any benefit. Then eight bottles of iron tonic, yet I was no better; this was in 1889.
I then took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which made a new man of me. I am now fifty-two years old, and for the past five years I have worked very hard on my farm. It is impossible for me to say too much for the 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

READY FOR THE RUSH.

Thousands Prepared to Rush into the Kickapoo Reservation on Thursday.

OKLAHOMA, O. T., May 21.—Hundreds of people arrive hourly to help swell the already well-filled lines now camped along the borders of the Kicka-poo reservation, awaiting its being thrown open to settlement Thursday.

The weather so far has favored the would-be settlers who are exceptionally cheerful and apparently comfortable in their crude schooners and shanties.

But 550 of the thousand who desire to take up claims can possibly be satisfied, and some predict a most sensational run and lots of trouble, while others say discouragement will prevent a great proportion of the waiters from going in at all except as sightseers. Already there is a line of weary waiters before the line office who took up their positions when the issuing of the president's proclamation was first made public.

Chandler, situated three miles from the northeastern corner, and Tecumseh, the same distance from the southern point of the reservation, both good county seat towns, will be the greatest starting points. Ingram and Gametown, on the north, Choctaw City on the west, and Clifton and Shawnee on the eastern line, will also be starting points.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by two doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr.
King's New Discovery completely cured her and says it saved her life.
Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured.
He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds.
Free trial bottles at Potts drug store.
Regular size 50c and $1.

EARLY LIFE OF PAUL JONES.

He Came to America to Inherit an Estate in Virginia.

There is no record of his having attended any school except that of the parish of Kirkcubright, but he developed a truly Scotch passion for reading and writing. He went to sea when 12 years old and made two voyages during his minority in a slaver, but hating the traffic he left it and the ship too. At 20 he was in command of a fine brigantine.
About this time occurred what he calls, in a letter to Robert Morris, "a great misfortune," adding, "I am under no concern whatever that this or any other circumstance of my past life will sink me in your opinion." The trouble was a threatened criminal prosecution for having had a carpenter flogged, which was the usual mode of punishment in those days. The matter was investigated, and Paul Jones was fully acquitted.

It is worthy of remark that the magistrate who inquired into that matter notes that Paul Jones expressed great sorrow for having had the man flogged, although the charge of cruelty was fully disproved. He returned to Scotland once after this, and although affectionately received by his own family friends and neighbors seem to have treated him coldly. The smart from this injustice turned the indifference he felt for his native land into hatred, and ever after he considered himself quite free from any responsibility for having been born and having spent the first 12 years of his life in so inhospitable a country.

In his twenty-seventh year a great and fortunate change occurred to him.
His brother William, who had emigrated to Virginia and died there, left him an estate. There is no doubt that Paul Jones was often afterward in want of ready money, but it must be remembered that everybody was in want of ready money in the eighteenth century.
Certain it is, from his papers preserved at Washington, that he might be considered at the beginning of the war a man of independent fortune.

The two years of his life in Virginia are obscure, as might be expected from a man living the life of a provincial country gentleman, which the records concerning him prove. At the outbreak of war with the mother country Paul Jones hastened to Philadelphia, and through Mr. Joseph Hewes, a member of congress from North Carolina, got his commission as senior first lieutenant in the infant navy of the colonies. It was then he made the acquaintance of Robert Morris, to whom he felt a passionate gratitude and affection, and whom he named as sole executor in his will. Mr. Hewes being then dead—Miss Molly Elliot Seawell in Century.

IN THE FUTURE.

When the Girl Who Earns $5,000 a Year
Will Be a Desirable Wife.

"Don't you think it about time for Mabel to consider the subject of matrimony?" he asked hesitatingly.

"Oh, there is plenty of time," replied his wife. "Mabel is very ambitious, you know, and she is used to certain so called luxuries that she would dislike to give up."

"Well, frankly, I think she is working too hard."

"Oh, no, she isn't. It will do her good. And since she won that case in the supreme court her income has been steadily increasing. If she continues to do as well in her profession, she may be able to think of marriage in a year or so. You see, things have changed since we were married."

"Indeed they have," he sighed.

"Then a girl's beauty, temperament and accomplishments had more to do with her matrimonial chances, but it is very different now, very different indeed. Mabel is not yet the prize that I wish her to be, and I doubt if she could be sure of getting the kind of husband that I desire her to have. The best young men are very particular, you know."

"Very true," he admitted.

"Many of them will hardly look at a girl whose earning capacity is not $4,000 or $5,000 a year. Mabel agrees with me that it is best to wait until she has reached that point, and then she is sure to be sought after by the very best and most desirable young men in the city."—Chicago Post.

"A Nice Pupil"

Napoleon was a great soldier, but he could not spell. His handwriting was also so bad as to give rise to the rumor that he used undecipherable characters to conceal the fact that he, the master of Europe, could not master French orthography.

In the early days of the empire a man of modest aspect presented himself before the emperor.

"Who are you?" asked Napoleon.

"Sir, I had the honor at Brienne for 15 months to give writing lessons to your majesty."

"You turned out a nice pupil!" said the emperor, with vivacity. "I congratulate you on your success!"

Nevertheless he conferred a pension upon his old master.—Youth's Companion.

Ireland was originally Irene, or the "Western Isle." It was called the "Emerald Isle" because of the brilliant color of its verdure, which throughout the year is a lively green.

Mary, queen of Scots, had red hair and a cross eye, and in spite of the encomiums of her contemporaries is believed not to have been a handsome woman.

PLEASURE TRIPS.

Numerous Excursions the Coming Summer at Reasonable Rates.

Whether the tourist's fancy directs him to the New England States or the Atlantic seaboard; to the South; or to the lake region of the North; or to the Rocky Mountains and the wonderland beyond the Mississippi, he will be given opportunity to indulge his tastes at a small cost for railroad fare this year. There will be low rates to Baltimore over the Pennsylvania lines in May, account the American Medical association; to Decatur, Ill., account the German Baptist (Dunkard) meeting, and to Pittsburgh for the Presbyterian general assembly. There will also be low rates over these lines to Meridian, Miss., account the general assembly Cumberland Presbyterian church the same month. In June excursion tickets will be sold over the Pennsylvania lines to Omaha account the National Jr. American Mechanics to Chattanooga, Tenn., for the International convention of Epworth league; to Cleveland, O., account the National Republican league meeting, and to Roanoke, Va., for the German Baptist meeting. Excursions for July include low rates over the Pennsylvania to Baltimore for the Baptist Y. P. Union meeting; to Asbury Park for the L.
A. W. meeting, and to Boston for the Christian Endeavor convention, and to Denver, Colo., account the National Educational association meeting. In August excursion tickets will be on sale over the Pennsylvania lines to Boston, account the Knights Templar conclave. The sale of low rate tickets will not be restricted to the members of the organizations mentioned, but the public generally may take advantage of them.

The Asbury Park excursion will doubtless attract many to that delightful ocean resort. Atlantic City, Cape May, Long Branch, and all the famous watering places along the New Jersey coast are located on the Pennsylvania lines, hence this will be a desirable opportunity to visit the seashore. The Denver excursion will be just the thing for a sight-seeing jaunt through the far west, as tickets will be honored going one way and returning a different route through the most romantic scenery beyond the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. Variable route privileges will also be accorded Boston excursionists, enabling them to visit Niagara Falls, Montreal, Thousand Islands and St. Lawrence Rapids, the White Mountains, the Hudson River territory, and to return by steamer on Long Island sound, after sight-seeing in Newport, Narragansett Pier, Nantucket and the Cape Cod resorts to New York, and thence through the agricultural paradise of the Keystone state, along the Susquehanna and Juniata rivers, over the Alleghenies, around famous Horse Shoe curve, through historic Johnstown and the coke and iron regions of Western Pennsylvania. It is also expected that Boston excursionists over the Pennsylvania lines will be privileged to return via Baltimore and Washington if they so desire.

In addition to the above, there will be plenty of other cheap excursions over the Pennsylvania lines to various points. As the season is some weeks away, arrangements in detail have not been consummated, but it is certain that no railway will offer better inducements than the liberal concessions in rates
